A paragliding association gives the opportunity to fly to a group of people with disabilities, making one of their dreams become reality.

“There’s places where disabilities do not exist, the only disabilities are fear and self-consciousness that everybody can experience and that limit our lives.

Sky is a place of freedom and democracy, where anybody can face his own limits and fears, win them and you can touch the clouds.

Hopes, ambitions and dreams of the people involved in this documentary could very well represent the burning desire and strive for realization that belongs to every human being wishing to live his life at its fullest.”

The documentary will be presented on Thursday Sept 21st, starting at 7.30pm, at the Famee Furlane Hall, 2605 East Pender street.
